Myth Buster: LEED® accreditation is not just for Architects and Engineers! Contractors, Developers, Builders, Lawyers, Real Estate Professionals, Students, and Property Managers - virtually anyone interested in establishing their green building 'cred' can take the LEED® Green Associate exam. Regardless of your professional background, LEED® Green Associate is the first step toward becoming a LEED® AP.

Course Description: This 2-day course helps prepare anyone to pass the LEED® Green Associate Exam. After an introduction to the exam format, your instructor will give an overview of the new LEED® v3 rating systems. Next, you will examine the core concepts of green building as they relate to each of the LEED® credit categories. Throughout, your instructor will explain what you need to study after leaving this class to increase your chances of passing the exam.

Audience: Architects, Developers, Engineers, Builders, Lawyers, Real Estate Professionals, Contractors, Students, Property Managers, and anyone else interested in passing the Green Associate Exam. This exam is the first step toward becoming a LEED® Accredited Professional, regardless of your background.

Your Instructor: Greg Hamra is a Miami-based LEED® Accredited Professional and a Senior Training Specialist at Everblue Training Institute, the USGBC's largest Educational Portfolio Provider. Greg's specialty is facilitating high-impact, fun, and engaging LEED® exam prep courses. Greg has taught thousands of LEED students from México to Dubai (and hundreds in South Florida) and has been instrumental in helping them achieve their LEED® AP and Green Associate credentials. His high-impact edutainment sessions are lots of fun but taught with a very straightforward, practical approach.

"Greg, thanks for doing such a great job teaching the LEED GA course. Your ability to turn an inordinate amount of material into two days of interesting, digestible information helped me score 195 on my exam. Of all the professors, instructors and presenters I've had in the past 20 years, none comes close to you as a teacher. Your passion and ability to keep the class engaged made the class very enjoyable. Two days went by too fast."
